When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder

A little girl fails to answer when her name is called

James M. Black walked along the streets of his native Williamsport, Pa., with a heavy heart. Bessie had never failed before to answer roll call at Sunday School. Black knew because he called the roll himself. But when Bessie didn't answer that morning he called her name a second time. Still she failed to answer and he knew something was wrong. Then somebody said Bessie had been suddenly taken ill and doctors held little hope for her.

To Social Worker James Black, Bessie was more than just another recruit for his Sunday School class and young peoples' society. She lived on the other side of the tracks in what was called before the turn of the century "The Sawdust City." Black had found her one day sitting on the broken down steps of a broken down house. Of course she would come to Sunday School. She would be there the next Sunday. Then she looked at her ragged clothes and said maybe she couldn't come after all. But the next day somebody left a box of new clothes at Bessie's house. Every Sunday after that when James Black called the roll, he looked up and sort of smiled when he came to Bessie's name. But now, for the first time, she failed to answer.

As he walked home that Sunday in 1893 James Black got to thinking that maybe the next time Bessie answered to her name it would be at the great roll call. Then he got to wondering if his own name might be on the same roll.

Besides teaching Sunday School Black loved to play the piano and write poetry. He said that the words for a hymn just seemed to come to him spontaneously and he wrote them down that afternoon. That night he set them to music. Black collected his poems into a little book he called "Songs of the Soul." In the book is the three-verse poem he wrote just before a little girl named Bessie went to answer to her name. . . .

When the trumpet of the Lord shall sound, and time shall be no more,
And the morning breaks, eternal, bright and fair;
When the saved of earth shall gather over on the other shore,
And the roll is called up yonder, I'll be there.

On that bright and cloudless morning
when the dead in Christ shall rise,
And the glory of His resurrection share;
When his chosen ones shall gather to their home beyond the skies,
And the roll is called up yonder, I'll be there.

Let us labor for the Master
from the dawn till setting sun,
Let us talk of all his wondrous love and care;
Then when all of life is over,
and our work on earth is done,
And the roll is called up yonder, I'll be there.

Church and Community

A Sermonette

By REV. CARL L. WOOTEN

Pastor of First Church of the Nazarene

"And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." Matthew 16 18.

THE CHURCH is the greatest institution in the world. Some people do not believe this. It is the place where decisions are made for eternity. We are creatures of eternity and need to know something about the future. The church was founded upon Christ the Rock. It is not founded upon any man or denomination, they all pass away; Christ is "Alpha and Omega." When this world was in darkness and ruin He and His Father brought order and light out of darkness and ruin

God speaks to men through the church. The church building with its spires pointing heavenward remind us of God, and invites us to worship Him there. It was Robert Louis Stevenson who said, "I never weary of great churches. It is my favorite kind of mountain scenery. Mankind was never so happily inspired as when it built a cathedral." The church has found its way into every American community, and plays a very important part in the lives of men.

THE CHURCH is a meeting place for God and His people. In the Old Testament dispensation God called Moses one day into the mountain and gave him explicit instructions for building a tabernacle. Moses came down from the mountain with the blueprints and set the people to work on the house of God. It was just a tabernacle in the wilderness but a place where God met with His people. Some people are so blinded that they think they can meet with God and never attend the house of worship. I believe this can be true in illness or where people just cannot attend the place of worship. Most people who are unable to attend pray for the day when they can attend and worship with others of like faith. Don't deceive yourself my friend, God has placed too much emphasis upon public worship for one to neglect the house of God and keep on praying grounds with the God of the church. One of the signs of the second coming of Christ is the neglect of public worship. "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is, but exhorting one another: and so much more, as ye see the day approaching." Hebrews 10:25. Regardless of my faith, I need the help that comes through public worship. My church needs me and I need my church.

THE CHURCH IS a light in the community. The church should be a soul-saving center where sinners are led from the darkness of sin into the marvelous light of the gospel of Christ. The church has many needs to meet in the community but nothing should block the path to God and the forgiveness of sins. In the church is where men are made conscious of their sins and in the church is where most men confess their sins to God.

The church is a place of encouragement and edification. The church should provide a place of encouragement for the people of God. After the toils and cares of the week, how refreshing it is to meet together and sing and pray and listen to a message of comfort from the word of God. Boundry lines and security seem to have taken the wings of the morning. God and the church have not changed.

"This is my church," said a young man to a friend as they drove by a very humble place of worship. The expression on his face was that of love and devotion. Your church may not be the finest building in the community, but if God is meeting with His people and men's souls are being lifted heavenward, then your church is filling its place in the community. Would you want to live in a community where there were no churches? Of course not. Then help keep the church of your choice open and serving the community.

Confident Living

Don't Let Hate Sap Your Power

By Norman Vincent Peale

IN MY LAST article, I wrote about how to use faith to give you a continuous source of energy and power. If there is any one thing which draws off energy and saps your strength, it is the cancer we call ill will or resentment or hate.

A well-known physician, head of the staff of one of our biggest hospitals, says that among his patients who have had breakdowns, a large percentage showed definite signs of resentment, grudges, slow-boiling exasperation and irritation. These, he feels contributed to the disorganization of their lives. When their lives became disorganized, their energies were depleted and this helped to bring on their breakdowns. He adds that, if he could only keep people from getting worked up on the inside because of resentment, not only would a lot of nervous breakdowns be prevented but the people concerned could preserve their energy and vitality and do a better job of living.

Dr. Peale

Last fall, I was on the campus of Notre Dame University at South Bend, Indiana. The man whose spirit still prevades that campus was a football coach, probably the greatest who ever trained a team. Men who knew Knute Rockne tell me that he was a thoroughgoing unsentimental realist. He would not have a man on one of his teams who did not have a genuine friendly feeling for every other man on that team. "I have to get the most energy out of a man," he said, "and I have discovered that I can't do it if that man hates another man. It blocks his energy and he just isn't up to par until he gets a feeling of good will again."

SOME PEOPLE get the idea that the Bible is just another dull, musty old book. Yet these words of a modern football coach about modern college boys playing a modern game are not very different from what the Bible means when it says "Love ye one another." It doesn't say that because it's a "nice" thing, it says it because it is the only way to live practically. Rockne, who was a tough man and an absolute realist, said, in effect, "You can't have energy unless you love one another."

Another figure in the world of sports, George Sissler, certainly one of the greatest baseball players of our time, says that a fundamental factor in being a success in baseball is to have a deep sense of friendliness for every other player. He points out that a pitcher always tries to make a batter angry. The pitcher will do everything he can to get the batter's goat because if the man at bat loses his temper, his energy begins to escape. His sense of timing will be lost and the chances are that he will strike out or make a poor hit.

YOU AND I run the same chances of striking out in life if we let our resentments control us. Ill will can only sap our energies. A doctor I know once told me how a mutual friend, burdened with heavy responsibilities, manages to keep himself from "cracking up."

"He has learned how to run himself like a well-regulated machine," he explained to me. "No leaks are caused by hates and resentments eating away at him. None of his steam escapes. He knows how to do things the easy way. He works hard with ease."

"But how do you account for his efficiency," I asked.

"Religion," he answered me. "Our friend practices his religion. From it, he has learned how to avoid drainage of effort, how to overcome weariness and most important, how to avoid the personal hates, jealousies and resentments that make a man lose mastery over his emotions. It's not hard work that drains off energy and leads to breakdowns. Emotional upheaval is responsible, and religion has helped this man free himself from that."

That's the answer. If you are tired and worn out, check and see if resentment is sapping your powers? You had better learn to control your emotions because the good Lord never meant a person to go through life with only a few cylinders working. Check up on yours today.

PRAYER BEFORE BATTLE. With weapons and helmets close at hand, U. S. 24th Division soldiers attend Catholic church services on the western front in Korea. Chinese and Korean Communists furiously attacked along the entire Korean front and paid a tremendous price in blood for some initial gains.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Virginia Chaney, and nine members responded to roll call with their favorite Bible verse. The next meeting will be the annual picnic to be in charge of the officers.

Loose-Cushion Seat Easy To Make

One of the best-looking pieces of occasional furniture to appear in recent years is this loose-cushion seat of decided Oriental flavor. It has a great many advantages to recommend it, the greatest of which is probably the fact that it is ridiculously easy to make yourself.

To produce this piece of furniture, you start at the end instead of at the beginning as in most work, because it is essential that you have the three cushions before you can know how long and wide to make the frame to hold them. With the overall length of the cushions established, the job is done as follows

Two pieces of eleven-inch sanded shelving are used to make the front and back stretchers illustrated, and two shorter pieces are cut to furnish the sides of the frame. The square cut shapes of the ends present no difficulty and the cut-out design is started by boring holes through the board.

When the four pieces are assembled, they are covered with a sheet of quarter-inch plywood, and three braces of one-by-three-inch stock is set under the plywood top and running from front piece to the back. Two-by-two corner blocks are set inside the corners where the frame meets.

Two-inch heavy molding is set along the edge of the seat as shown and the cushions nest inside of it.

This assembly can be painted, enameled or stained. If mahogany, walnut or other natural colored wood is desired, the wood is stained that color and then shellacked. Additional coats of shellac, with steelwool rubbing between coats will build up an excellent finish.

This piece of furniture can be drawn up before the fireplace, placed against a wall or in a corner without presenting the bulk and heavy appearance of the usual backed and thick-armed pieces.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

UNCONTROLLABLE FIRE

Q. We had a new steel furnace installed last fall, but never have been able to control the coal fire in it. The damper in the smoke pipe as well as the butterfly damper have no effect whatever in controlling the fire The funace people who installed the unit have found no solution. We want to put in oil or gas in another year, but would like to find out if it is our chimney that is causing this trouble. Would like your suggestions.

A. You do not say anything about closing down the ash-pit door damper to control the flow of air through the bed of coals. perhaps the bed of coals is not deep enough. It should almost reach the bottom of the coal-feed door. If, with these suggestions, the condition continues, have a competent heating contractor install an automatic draft regulator in the smokepipe. I would also suggest that you write to the maker of your furnace and ask him to send their pamphlet of instructions on the operation of their unit. Your chimney seems to be satisfactory.

STAIN "BLEEDS"

Q. We have a dark moulding which has been painted white several times. Within six months dark lines show through the white paint. What can we do to overcome this?

A. Evidently the stain used on the wood is probably of an aniline dye type, which bleeds though The remedy is to remove all of the finish down to the bare wood, then bleach out the color with a prepared wood bleach, following directions on the label, or by using a hot saturated solution of oxalic acid (poison). If the oxalic acid solution is used, apply liberally, allow to remain overnight; then rinse well with clear water. When dry, smooth with fine sandpaper, wipe off dust, and refinish as desired.

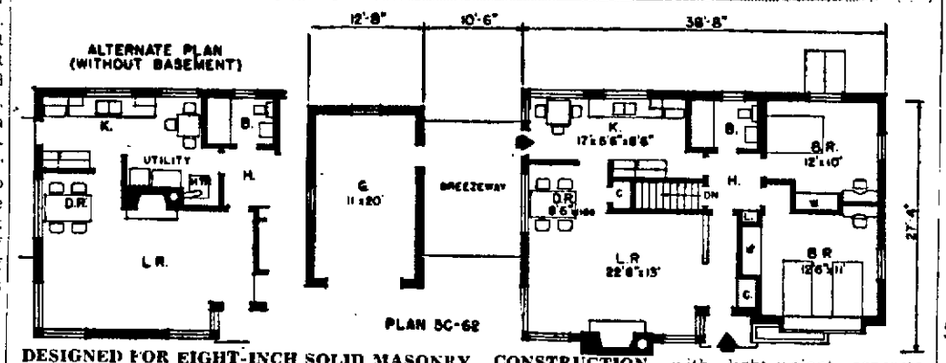
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



DESIGNED FOR EIGHT-INCH SOLID MASONRY CONSTRUCTION with light-weight concrete blocks, this ranch style cottage can be built with or without a basement The alternate plan shows how the living room fireplace is moved to make the chimney available for heating equipment in space that would be used for cellar stairs. The garage is lengthened a few feet to provide additional storage space when basement is eliminated This is plan 5C-62 by Elmer Gylleck, architect, 120 South Grove Ave., Elgin, Ill. The house covers 1018 square feet without breezeway and garage, and contains 17,300 cubic feet when built with basement (12,200 cubic feet without basement).

These figures are used as guides in estimating building costs locally.

Sam Could Bite Himself

IN THE over-simplified thinking which has become a kind of national characteristic it seems logical to exclude all U. S manufacturers from unfriendly hands when the nation is fighting a war.

It would be logical except for one thing That is the fact there is more than one pattern of logic to be considered.

Thus, if the United States were to cut off all economic aid as a form of punishment to any country which sent arms or materials of war to the Soviet Union or any of its satellites, the logic of so doing might come into conflict with the logic which prompted the economic aid in the first place.

The subject is being studied continuously by a special trade committee for guidance of the government. But the resolution in Congress would deny U. S aid automatically to countries which ship items of military value to "unfriendly" nations—and this resolution has been tacked to an appropriation bill to make certain it cannot be overlooked.

The question is this: might the United States do more harm than good by invoking an exclusionist policy against a friendly country whose economic existence depended on trade with the Soviet Union or its satellites.

Reasonable Assumptions

OHIO Bell Telephone Co. and Western Union are being pressed by Ohio Public Utilities Commission to refuse service to bookies and gamblers. Both are reluctant—But with better reason than appears at first.

They do not want to be blamed for not doing something which public authority is responsible for doing. They are ready to discontinue service to bookies and gamblers whenever requested to do so by proper public authority. They are even ready to tell the proper public authority which clients are carrying on shady practices. But they do not think they should be responsible for enforcing the law against gambling

Two reasonable assumptions have been made about telephone and telegraph companies—that they did not need revenue from gamblers and that they could give commercialized gambling the coup de grace by refusing to provide service Against these assumptions the companies have opposed one of their own—that if public authority wants to stop gambling it will have the cooperation of telephone and telegraph companies but should not expect the companies to do its work.

This One Drew Blood

BUBBLE-GUM manufacturers who have been wrapping their product with signs advising consumers to be on guard against Communists have piqued the high command of the home-grown reds.

The latter have started a counter-offensive, with a chairman, a bogus organization and the usual palaver about peace Their aim is to persuade retailers of bubble gum to boycott the kind they don't like.

The situation is worth a second thought because it suggests that something about using bubble gum wrappers for an anti-Communists campaign drew blood The "something" would seem to be its direct appeal to the impressionable minds of the young.

The point missed most often in United States propaganda efforts is the importance of simplicity and directions. A bubble-gum campaign may give the Communists more to worry about than a million dollars' worth of voice of America scripts.

Wheat to India

THERE are times when life would be simpler if some of the things left unsaid were brought into the open—as in the case of wheat for India

A butter-headed Congress has kicked this matter around until it will take a miracle to keep it from turning into a complete fiasco And all the kicking around, unfortunately has been done under the benefit of an illusion about gifts, "coins something for nothing, something for something, famine relief and U S philanthropy as screwed Yankee trading

Things left unsaid are that India is going to be short on foodstuffs this fall and knowing that the United States has an unwieldy surplus of wheat has asked the United States for help But that point the gobolydygook began. The facts have remained unchanged however

The United States owns an enormous amount of surplus wheat, bought with U. S. treasury funds to stabilize the price of that commodity. It must get rid of this surplus, because in the southern states a new wheat harvest has begun, in prospect of another wheat crop larger than immediate requirements In a sense, therefore, anything the government received from India in return for surplus would be a net gain—not to the taxpayers who put up the money in the first place but to the government which already has collected the price of the wheat once and now has hopes of receiving a premium from the government of India.

Truman's Strange Year

By David Lawrence

Reveals Hidden Grievance Against MacArthur

WASHINGTON

WITH ADMIRABLE restraint President Truman nursed his grievance against General MacArthur for more than a year and never told him about it. He even pinned a distinguished service decoration on the general at the Wake Island conference and publicly praised MacArthur's leadership Even as late as Jan 13, 1951, he sent him a private message, which has only recently been made public, saying that "the entire nation is grateful for your leadership."

Now, Mr Truman says it wasn't really the letter that General MacArthur wrote to Representative Joseph W. Martin, Republican leader, which furnished the straw that broke the camel's back To use an entirely different metaphor, the President said the letter to Martin had added fuel to the flames but he had made up his mind long before that to fire MacArthur.

LAWRENCE

What a well-kept secret it was!

The exact reason, as given by the President, to his Thursday news conference, was the MacArthur message of March 24 calling on the Red Chinese commander to lay down his arms and agree to an armistice. Mr. Truman referred to it as an ultimatum But that isn't accurate For in international law an ultimatum means that, unless an enemy does a certain thing by a certain time, a certain penalty will be inflicted MacArthur merely predicted the enemy's defeat — he didn't specify any time. He was really polite about it.

THE PRESIDENT nevertheless says that the message to the Chinese commander should have been submitted first to the Joint Chiefs of Staff. But that is contrary to what Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, has said publicly about the right of a field commander at any time to ask the enemy to lay down its arms.

Actually General MacArthur had a psychological-warfare setup under which for several months leaflets had been dropped over the enemy lines urging the Red Chinese to surrender. The message of March 24 was in line with that psychological-warfare effort—and not a single message of disapproval ever came from the President or the Joint Chiefs of Staff or anyone else specifically disapproving of the sending of such surrender demands to the enemy.

Yet now Mr Truman says this was the chief basis for the dismissal. The President referred questioners also to Secretary of Defense Marshall's testimony to the effect that MacArthur's message upset the peace plans which the administration was working out concurrently with its allies

THE FACTS ARE, however, that the proposed 14-nation declaration was circulated to 13 different foreign governments, but no copy was sent to our own Far East commander, who held the title of U. N. commander-in-chief. On March 20, a vague message saying something like it was being planned did come to him, of attempts in the U. N. to bring about "cease fire" negotiations. To this day the Administration has refused to make public what was in that proposed 14-nation declaration, though Republican senators on Capitol Hill say it was an appeasement plan which called for an expression of American willingness to stop fighting and agree to a restoration of the 38th Parallel. That meant a waste of everything that had been fought for since last June.

It will be interesting now to see what the Senate inquiry does on this point, for it will naturally demand to know the exact "peace" terms and what bogged down the negotiations, and why the message was not sent to General MacArthur, inasmuch as it was supposedly in the works here for at least two weeks before he addressed the Chinese commander.

MR. TRUMAN ALSO referred to the message which General MacArthur sent to the convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars on Aug. 28 last as something that displeased him. The general in that message pointed out that Formosa had to be defended and should not be turned over to an enemy. It has now been testified by Secretary Marshall that this has been American policy all along Why should the President, therefore, have been displeased on April 11, 1951, over a statement of American policy if that was, indeed, the American policy as far back as Aug. 28, 1950? It may turn out that the Department of State on that date was really willing to turn over Formosa to Red China and that General MacArthur's statement caused such a public furor that the policy had to be changed. There are lots of things yet to be revealed by the Senate inquiry.

So it all boils down to the fact that, however unhappy Mr. Truman was about General MacArthur, the Far Eastern commander, by the issuance of statements which the general believed to be within his rights as a

Old Routines Never Die

Marshall's Judgment

By George E. Sokolsky

IT WOULD seem that the gist of General George Marshall's argument before the senatorial committee is that General Douglas MacArthur's judgment is not to be relied upon, that he, General Marshall, possesses a superior judgment

Comparisons of this nature are difficult to make. Yet the record does disclose:

1. General George Marshall was present at Yalta, as chief of staff. It was at that conference that Russia exacted from Roosevelt an agreement by which Russia got a free hand in Turkestan, Mongolia, Manchuria, with leeway to conquer China by Chinese Communists, plus half of Korea, on condition that Russia would enter the Far Eastern War, 90 days after Germany was defeated.

SOKOLSKY

Obviously, the defeat of Germany would quickly result in the defeat of Japan. Here is the timetable:

Germany defeated May 7, 1945

Russia enters the war against Japan August 8, 1945.

Japan defeated August 14 1945

For a week of war, the United States gave China to Russia at Yalta. No one has ever heard General George Marshall protest that the price we paid was too high. Nor has Marshall ever declared that Roosevelt did not act on his counsel or that he ever opposed Roosevelt's decisions

General MacArthur, as proconsul in Asia, was not invited to Yalta The expert on Far Eastern affairs was Alger Hiss

2. LOOK AT ROBERT E. Sherwood's "Roosevelt and Hopkins," pages 303-304. There you will find a letter to Roosevelt from Henry Stimson, shortly after Germany invaded Russia From this letter it is apparent that Marshall told Stimson:

"Germany will be thoroughly occupied in beating Russia for a minimum of one month and a possible maximum of three months."

That was 30 hours after the invasion which started June 22, 1941 Germany was so occupied until May 7, 1945 Further, Stimson wrote Roosevelt.

"They (Chiefs of Staff) were unanimously of the belief that this precious and unforeseen period of respite should be used to push with the utmost vigor our movements in the Atlantic Theater of Operations. They were unanimously of the feeling that such pressure on our part was the right way to help Britain, to discourage Germany, and to strengthen our own position of defense against our most imminent danger.

"As you know Marshal and I have been troubled by the fear we be prematurely dragged into two major operations in the Atlantic, one in the northeast and the other in Brazil, with an insufficient demonstrated superiority of American seapower to hold politics steady in South America By getting into this war with Russia, Germany has much relieved our anxiety, provided we act promptly and get the initial dangers over before Germany gets her legs disentangled from the Russian mire . . . ."

FIRST OF ALL, the United States was then not at war. Secondly, every estimate of timing which Marshall made for Stimson has turned out to be wrong by the course of events. It is a letter too long to publish here, but I recommend it to anyone who wishes to make an appraisal of General Marshall's judgment in connection with the European war.

3. It was General George Marshall who insisted that Chiang Kai-shek withdraw from Manchuria. That opened the way for the conquest of China by the Communists. He devoted 13 months to the impossible task of achieving a union of the Nationalists and Communists in China MacArthur said that they could combine like oil and water. This letter of September 26, 1946 is an example of General Marshall's thinking. It is addressed to Chou En-lai, head negotiator for Soviet China:

"Dear General Chou: Since your departure for Shanghai we have been steadily hoping that you would return here and thus make possible a resumption of the efforts to end the spreading civil war. The disastrous consequences to the nation of a continuation of the present situation are apparent to all. We continue in our belief that both the government and the Communist leaders sincerely desire peace and the establishment of a coalition government and the adoption of a democratic constitution, and that the difficulties are largely questions of procedure.

"We desire to help in this to the utmost of our ability . . .

G. C. Marshall
J. L. Stuart"

This attitude led to Chiang Kai-shek's defeat and retirement to Formosa. As these efforts of General Marshall violated the history of China from 1924 to 1946, when he wrote this letter, it is apparent that his judgment was functioning in a vacuum.

Barbecued Bucks

By TRUMAN TWILL

THIS department's manufacturing branch, Mythico Products Inc., is ready to go into mass production on another hot item.

This one has an important economic tie-up It is edible money

The idea has been obvious for some time, because for some time it has been more feasible to eat money, if money were edible, than to buy food with it The buyer does not get enough food to justify the transaction

Mythico Products Inc., therefore, will produce edible money as soon as certain matters are cleared up with the U S Treasury Department It is to be expected that the department will be stuffy and difficult

But Mythico is not demanding the right to put the U.S. mint out of business It only aims to show the mint how edible money can be produced, after which the mint can take over the operation, paying a small royalty. After all, why shouldn't a mint produce something edible"

Eat U S Mints, fortified with low-interest notes guaranteed not to fatten your roll

Munch a Minnie and Be Safe . . . slogans like that could make money popular again

But to get back to manufacturing edible money, it is pretty obvious that the basic aim will have to be nourishment rather than flavor. Mythico Products is going to strive for something in the nature of standby rations—something for emergencies, like canned chicken, or a macaroni dinner.

The idea will be to build a buck's worth of solid nourishment into every dollar Then, as money depreciates, this will have a tendency to make old dollars more valuable than new ones, providing an incentive to hang on to the stuff On the other hand, if money ever gets valuable again, the edible feature will speed up demand for more new issue, thereby preventing the depressions which happen by when money gets valuable and people feel like hanging on to it

Edible money will have all the built-in advantages of an escalator wage clause, the ever-normal granary, the stabilization sections of the National Defense Act—and be handy for the housewife as well.

In a pinch, she can boil up five dollars and have more to show for it on the supper table than she could buy with the equivalent amount used as cash. Mythico Products Inc proposed to go into competition with agriculture for the food business of the U.S.A with the connivance of the U. S. Treasury. Nothing unreasonable about that, surely People have been depending on the U. S Treasury for years.

Inflation Prophesies

By Raymond Moley

IF ALL THE Administration prophets are right, the United States in the next year or so is going to accomplish something that no one ever dreamed could be accomplished anywhere, any time In fact, we are going to run in the teeth of all economic laws and, like a cosmic Supreme Court, declare them all to be invalid

MOLEY

Defense Mobilizer Wilson says we are going to reach our production goals in 12 months and that our mild shortages will be over by that time. Meanwhile, we shall have 70 percent of normal automobile output and enough refrigerators and washing machines to keep us cool and clean If that be true, we should be mildly concerned about unemployment a year from now, for there will be no great unfulfilled demands as there were in 1945. We can balance that worry against the bright hope for lower prices of manufactured goods, since without heavy shortages and unfulfilled demands, there should be no serious price rise.

HOWEVER, Leon Keyserling, chairman of the President's economic advisers, has a springtime speech, already delivered in several important places, in which he is assuring us that inflation is not such a great menace after all. He varies the speech somewhat, although his reassurance about the harmlessness of inflation is not our No 1 problem—production is In a statement to the Senate Banking Committee, he says inflation is not our greatest danger—Communist world aggression is

In fact, Keyserling grows eloquent about how beautifully we have been getting on with inflation. The average family is much better off with 50 or 60 percent dollars "We have maintained our freedom," he says, "increased our production, and expanded our economy. The total number of dollars in our national income has risen much faster than the decline in the buying power of a single dollar."

THIS IS COLD comfort to the millions who know that the decline in the value of their savings and in the value of their other sources of income has certainly had no compensation in their gains

The real basis of Keyserling's reassurances is political, not economic. He has been most adept at smooth double-talk and economic jargon, but his policies have been inflationary from the beginning He has sold a quite receptive Truman the theory that so long as an inflated national income rises, there is no danger in inflation.

Now it looks as if Keyserling, speaking for the Administration, is preparing the country for progressive inflationary stimulants This reveals the program for the next year or so which is, of course, a pre-election drive

If the United States can have adequate and, in a year, practically full civilian production, as the Defense Mobilizer tells us, and inflation without injury to our people, as Keyserling says, and victory in a war fought with wraps on, as Defense Secretary Marshall says, we shall indeed be the prodigy of the ages.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The New Meat Rules

The latest OPS beef ceilings are out and should be interlocked with National Laugh Week, Toothless Tuesday and All-American Confusion Month. Under the DiSalle-Johnston regulations tender cuts go up and the ones so tough they fight back when cornered go down a little. Or vice versa Even the butchers are confused And the shoppers are too groggy to talk authentically All anybody can be sure of is that the vegetarians are the only Americans getting a break

PHILLIPS

The butcher now asks, "Do you want this meat for eating or for wrestling?" If the housewife answers correctly she wins five sets of OPS directives and has a chance to go for the big jackpot question: "Should Mother Hubbard now sue the dog to recover possession of the bone?"

There is something new on the American dinner table: The Mike DiSalle Platter or Rib and Tear Blue Plate Special (Try one and be convinced that the rumors of a rubber shortage are false) Washington prepares and issues the new meat rules, but refuses to commit itself on what the public should use for knives and whether each one should have a double handle so two people can work on the same cut at once.

The OPS has labored and brought forth a tougher hamburger. In fact there is a new hamburger on the market. Instead of putting a thin hamburger between two pieces of toast they now acknowledge the limitations of the American jawbone and put one slice of toast between the two thin slices of hamburger This gives the aspect of a treasure hunt to the routine act of appeasing hunger. Meat is so high, since Mike DiSalle and Eric Johnson began protecting the public that there should be time payments and a trade-in allowance on a used chuck roast. Before the OPS started controlling meat prices it took luck to acquire a tenderloin steak. Now it takes violence.

Porterhouse and sirloins are up 12 to 15 cents a pound, avoirdupois, ad valorem and catch-as-catch can If you want chuck, rump, or worse you save a few cents. But this is offset by the fact no ceiling prices have been put on the larger-size hatchets and hammers. Or are we still all balled up" Markets are now required to exhibit the cuts in trays with ceiling prices attached or nearly so. The effect of this is to frighten the housewife sooner than usual and steel her against future rulings. The butcher-market song of the hour is "When You Come To The End of a Perfect Tray and the Prices Begin To Lower."

The more we look into the matter the more we are satisfied that the OPA gives us the deep freeze. Buy maybe nobody should kick The ceilings help the war effort If you can bite into any meat you get for less than a dollar a pound you automatically become physically eligible for the draft, regardless of age or dependents.

The meat men insisting that it is impossible to carve up a steer to comply with the OPS rules, offers to bring a carcass to Washington and let a butcher try to carve it under DiSalle's directions. Mr. DiSalle is not keen for the test. He says he knows nothing about carving. Strictly a fork and fountain-pen man we take it. (What are we having for dinner? Stew With the fat cut off the meat but not off the bureaucrats) theatre commander and as supreme Allied commander, prevented Formosa from falling into enemy hands and inadvertently did demolish an appeasement plan.

IT LOOKS very much as if the President has just become aware that Secretary Marshall's explanation of the dismissal of General MacArthur isn't persuasive and that it seems expedient now to avoid making an issue of the right of members of the armed services not to suffer reprisals when they tell the truth as they see it upon the request of members of Congress.

So the President shifted to the question of alleged impropriety on the part of General MacArthur in demanding that the enemy stop fighting and surrender. It certainly is strange to learn from the lips of a President of the United States that it is improper nowadays to speak to the enemy that way and that any general who does it in the midst of battle is likely to be fired.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

AT exactly 11:05 Tuesday night dynamite blew in the side of Tom Haggerty's house, awakening the Beverly Hills suburb of Chicago. Tom was tucking in his two lads, 9 and 14. They were frightened, for they were of a new generation and their suburb was distant in time as well as space from the Capone combine's East Cicero.

Tom Haggerty, leader of A.F.L. Chicago Teamsters, threw the blankets around his boys and raced downstairs, hoping in a way it was only the gas heating unit which had shattered windows, blasted his southeast wall and jammed the doors. But he saw the smoking hole in the ground outside and smelled the acrid odor and knew it was skillfully placed dynamite (two sticks) which had exploded under his children's window.

Victor Riesel

This was the fifth bombing or shooting of teamsters' leaders since mid-winter, when three hoods stepped out of a doorway one night and told the popular Bill Lee, Chicago Federation of Labor President, that they "wanted in." He told them to drop dead. Apparently they, or their boss, didn't and now have ideas that would serve better for labor leaders.

Haggerty's house was bombed in a brazen, nose-thumbing warning to all labor not to take the Kefauver revelations too seriously, nor to move in on the crime committee's recommendations for a city probe of the Combine's link with certain multi-million dollar "respectable" businesses.

THIS MAN'S CHILDREN survived explosives planted by hoods who knew that the entire A.F.L. high command, the 15-member national executive board headed by William Green, was meeting in its mid-year session only a few miles away at the Palmer House.

Had Tom not gone up to tuck in his kids, he might have been sitting, reading his newspapers, along that wall, blown in as a warning, no doubt, that he was not to call strikes without consultation with the torpedoes whose business it is to sell protection to both sides, labor and management. Only a few days earlier, Haggerty had wound up a tough two-day milk wagon drivers' stoppage. Chicago insiders tie the bombing to the strike, knowing in some way it irritated the Crime Combine.

Those dynamite sticks were touched off only hours after the mobs learned, before anyone else, that the new Senate crime busters were set to call some 16 witnesses left over from the Kefauver hearings—and some of them are from Chicago's mob-run industries.

They know, of course, that Rudy Halley's investigators had a hundred note books full of data on how the mobs moved in on industry.

THE GOONS WHO'VE GONE respectable know all this because they know which of their "business" colleagues were questioned in a series of private hearings. They know that the Kefauver counsel was aware of many cases in the East where the Combine's representative would simply phone a manufacturer to tell him that he was calling on a business deal. Then the conversation would run like this—gently with no threats of violence:

"You need a partner. We have lots of money to invest. We are now respectable. And we are now your partners."

The prosperous owner would say:

"Look, I don't need money and I don't need partners."

There would be no argument. The men would leave. And a few days later the strike would come. The national labor leaders could do nothing to stop it. Matter of fact, neither could those who called the strike. The heat was on. Soon the manufacturer would have new partners — taking for value exchanged, 25 percent of the business.

THERE ARE THOUSANDS of such cases across country. No one really will do anything about it, for there just isn't time, until some one like Tom Haggerty or his kids get hurt. Then there'll be indignation. But right now the crime probe is being brushed off by the Senate.

First, it has only three and a half months to go.

The committee couldn't investigate a chowder club bingo game in that time. Sen. Kefauver is on four other Senate committees. Senator Lester Hunt (Wyo.) is on five. Chairman Herbert O'Conor (Md.) is leading the fight to slash world arms and war material shipments to Soviet China. And Senators Alexander Wiley (W.s.) and Charles Tobey (N.H.) are working 10-hour shifts on just the MacArthur-Chief of Staff hearings alone. There is a new committee counsel—Dick Moser, a fine corporation attorney from Maryland—but he has just a few weeks to learn what it took some ace newsmen 40 years to know and live through.

All this the mobs know. And the dynamite outside Tom's youngsters' windows was a warning to let all labor know that the Combine knows it's still riding.

Widows Of World War II Vets Eligible For Social Security

Marion area widows of World War II veterans today were urged to investigate the possibility they may be eligible for social security payments.

Gerhard L. Schlueter, manager of the local Social Security office at 169½ East Center street, said World War II veterans need not have died or been killed in the service for their wives and children to be eligible for social security payments. They may be eligible even if the veteran never had a job or was never signed up for social security benefits, he said.

He cited the case of Willis Trautman, a farmer from near Upper Sandusky, who died Sept. 20, 1950 leaving his widow Ruth Trautman and their four-year-old daughter Susan.

Trautman was never under social security and was employed as a farmer when he died. He was in the military service from June 1941 through November 1945. Because of this service, he was eligible for military service wage credits under the 1950 amendments to the social security law.

His wife learned of this and applied for survivors benefits for herself and her child.

She received a lump sum payment of $129 plus $64.60 per month for herself and her child until the child is 18 years old, a possible total of more than $11,000 in the next 14 years.

She will continue to receive this except during any month in which she makes over $50 per month from a social security covered job or her own business. If she should marry, she would lose these benefits.

If Mrs. Trautman never remarries her payments will resume when she reaches age 65 and will continue for life, Mr. Schlueter said. "We invite other unmarried widows of World War II veterans to inquire about these benefits which may be due them."

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Abscess in the Kidney Area

An abscess is a pus pocket formed through the action of germs and restricted to a particular area. A common location for the formation of such abscessesis in the tissues around the kidney where they are known as perinephric abscesses.

Nowadays, with the liberal use of the sulfonamide drugs and the antibiotics, such infections are often prevented before they reach the stage where they cause severe symptoms. Nevertheless, surgical drainage is still necessary in many cases, even though the antibiotics are used.

The three most common causes of perinephric abscess are kidney infection, surgery of the kidney, and certain diagnostic measures involving the use of instruments. Together, these account for about one-half of all cases.

Perinephric abscess causes symptoms such as fever and pain around the area of the kidney. Whenever these symptoms are present, and particularly when the patient has tuberculosis of the kidney, the development of perinephric abscess should be suspected. X-ray examination is of great help in making a diagnosis. In the X-ray it is often noted that the kidney has been pushed sideways by the abscess, even though the latter does not itself show on the X-ray plate. Other evidence in the X-ray of a perinephric abscess is altering of the position of the stomach and large bowel.

X-rays may be taken with the patient lying down and standing up. Normally, the kidney position is lower when the patient is standing up, but, in cases of perinephric abscess, this change in the position of the kidney may not occur.

It is not a simple matter to diagnose perinephric abscess as a rule, since it is frequently not visible in the X-ray plate, and there are many conditions that can cause fever and tenderness in the kidney area, such as pyelitis, or inflammation of the pelvis of the kidney. When there are evidences, however, that there is an infection of the kidney, such as the finding of pus cells in the urine, together with fever and pain in the kidney area, perinephric abscess should be suspected and careful X-ray studies carried out.

Questions and Answers

M. E. F.: Is there any satisfactory treatment for spurs?

Answer. Operative treatment would seem to be the only method of getting rid of spurs.

Social Security Compulsory For Most Self-Employed

Apparently there is some misunderstanding of the self-employed person's obligations under the amended Social Security Act, the Marion office of the Social Security Administration said today.

Old-age and survivors insurance is not optional for people who are working for themselves in their own trade or business, or as partners in such enterprises. If you are self-employed and derive as much as $400 in net profit from your business or businesses in any taxable year after Dec. 31, 1950, your social security coverage is compulsory by law.

The only exceptions are income derived from self-employment as owner-operator of an agricultural enterprise, and self-employment income derived from practice as a physician, lawyer, dentist, osteopath, chiropractor, optometrist, naturopath, veterinarian, architect, C.P.A., licensed, registered or full-time practicing public accountant, Christian Science practitioner, professional engineer, or funeral director.

This means that, if you are not in one of the excepted groups, you have the same obligation to report your own income and pay the self-employment tax as you now have to report and withhold social security taxes on yourself along with your employes. Your self-employment income must be reported annually on your income-tax Form 1040, Schedule C, especially revised for this purpose. The first such report is due March 15, 1952, covering your self-employment income for the taxable year 1951 and payable along with the report is your self-employment social security tax, which is 2¼ percent of the first $3,600 of your net business profit. If you are a partner in a business, the tax is levied on the first $3,600 of your distributive share of the partnership net profits, whether or not the profits are distributed.

However, if you have had wages in covered employment during the year, on which social security taxes have been withheld, the amount of any such taxes is offset against the amount of taxes due on self-employment income.

Wounded G.I. Visits Mother In Marion

Cpl. Jerry Bault, 20, a twice-wounded Korean War veteran, the son of Mrs. Leslie Bault of 219½ Blaine avenue, arrived in Marion at 5 a. m. today on a weekend pass from Percy Jones Hospital, Battle Creek, Mich., to visit his mother.

This is his first visit home in two years.

He enlisted in the Army Dec. 28, 1948 at Delaware, took basic training at Fort Knox and was last in Marion in May 1949 just before sailing for Japan where he was assigned to the 64th Field Artillery Battalion of the 25th Infantry Division.

After serving 14 months in Japan he went to Korea with his regiment early in July 1950. He served as a telephone wire stringer in the liaison service of his battalion's headquarters company. He was wounded twice on this duty, the last time being on March 27 of this year. He suffered wounds of the left shoulder and left leg.

After receiving his leg wound he was hospitalized at Taegu, Korea, then at Osaka, Japan. After a 20-day ocean trip he arrived at Letterman Army Hospital in San Francisco. From there he was moved to Percy Jones Hospital, Battle Creek, Mich.

He arrived home at 5 a. m. today after a train trip to Columbus from Battle Creek, a bus trip to Delaware and a taxicab ride from Delaware to Marion. On hand to meet him were his mother, his older brother Richard Bault, his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Cornwell and E. F. Smith, representing the Marion Army Reserve Office.

Cpl. Bault will return to Battle Creek tomorrow night.

Coxey

he was active until a few months ago, and his mind never lost its sharpness.

Only three of his eight children survive him — Jacob of Youngstown, David of Cleveland, and Mrs. Ruth Wilson of Darien, Conn.

Funeral services will be held here Monday.

Coxey was 40 when he won his small but firm place in history.

The panic of 1893 still had the country crippled economically on Easter Sunday, 1894 when he rallied 50 of his staunchest supporters together here, and led them eastward toward Washington.

He hoped many thousands of others would join his crusade along the way and after eight miles a crowd of 10,000 greeted the "army" in Canton. But at no time did the marchers number more than 500, and desertions were frequent.

Sent To Jail

When the tattered, unshaven caravan of men reached Washington, police were afraid of violence and wouldn't let Coxey speak. He was arrested for trespassing on the Capitol lawn, and police raided his follower's camp and dispersed them. He was jailed for 20 days and fined $5.

Twenty years later a congressional committee listened to his views and he was allowed to speak from the Capitol steps.

Coxey later was nominated for president twice by the Farmer-Labor party. He tried unsuccessfully for governor, senator and U. S. representative. The only election he ever won was mayor of Massillon in 1931.

He intended to issue $200,000 in bonds to provide pay for workers on street projects and loans for unemployed. But the project collapsed and Coxey was not re-elected.

He was born at Seelinsgrove, Pa., April 16, 1854. At the age of five his family moved to Dansville, where he became a mill worker and later an engineer. He saved enough money to enter the scrap-iron business and some years later moved to Massillon, where he purchased a stone quarry.

He made considerable money and at one time owned a large stock farm in Kentucky. It was said that he once paid $40,000 for a stallion. He sold his quarry company in 1929 and later became interested in a mining venture near Silver City, N. M.

Coxey Frequent Visitor to Marion

"General" Coxey was a frequent Marion visitor and had many old friends here. A son and grandson lived here for a time.

Horace L. Coxey, the general's oldest son by his first wife lived in Marion for 11 years up until a year before his death at Mt. Vernon two years ago. He was employed for 11 years as a foreman by the Commercial Steel Castings Co.

His grandson, Thomas W. Coxey, 21, a former Marion Power Shovel Co. employe, also lived here until 1948. He moved with his father and mother to Mt. Vernon a year before his father's death. He and his mother still make their home there.

The "General" visited his son and grandson frequently before advanced age curtailed his travels and while in Marion he was a frequent visitor at Central Fire Station and the Marion Lodge of Elks, No. 32 where he had many friends of long standing.

MOTHER JAILED. Mrs. Jeanette Watson (above), 37, mother of two children was sentenced to six months in the women's reformatory by District Judge Shannon B. Charlton in Waterloo, Ia., after she refused to take the oath as a juror in the Edward J. Beckwith murder trial. Mrs. Watson said she didn't understand that she would not be able to go home or communicate with her family if she served on a murder trial jury. She was jailed on a contempt of court charge

Hurls Charge Of 'Whitewash' At Democrats

WASHINGTON, May 19—(AP)—President Truman's new appeal for national unity in the face of the MacArthur controversy was ranged today along-side a Republican senator's "whitewash" charge against Democrats.

Mr. Truman declared last night in an address at a National Armed Forces day dinner "We are in the midst of one of the greatest crises this country has ever faced." His remarks were broadcast to American and other United Nations troops in Korea and Japan.

So was an address at the same dinner by Secretary of Defense Marshall, who said the Allied forces in Korea "have dissipated the defeatism of a year ago," and have given new life to the U.N., the North Atlantic treaty organization and the free world generally.

Neither the President nor Marshall made any mention of Mr. Truman's dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from his Pacific commands. But against the background of the storm that action stirred, Mr. Truman said:

"You must quit your bickering here at home you must quit playing petty politics."

A few hours before the President spoke, Senator Wiley (R-Wis)) had charged that a majority of the Senate committee investigating dismissal of MacArthur has "a frantic desire to cover-up and whitewash."

Wiley set forth the contention in a letter to Senator Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the combined Senate armed forces and foreign relations committees conducting the inquiry.

Although Wiley, a member of the group, directed his accusation at "the committee majority," his office said later he was talking about the Democrats on the committee. He said the investigation may wind up as "not only a whitewash but a wash-out."

The Wisconsin senator wrote Russell after being defeated 18 to 8 in the committee Thursday in an attempt to force Gen. Omar N. Bradley to relate what was said at a conference he and other top advisers had with Mr. Truman April 6, five days before MacArthur was fired.

Six Republicans joined 12 Democrats in upholding Russell's ruling that Bradley did not have to tell what went on. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had declined to answer on the ground that to do so would destroy his value as a confidential adviser to the President.

W.C.T.U. CONTEST SET

The Marion County W.C.T.U. will sponsor a silver medal oratorical contest Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Prospect Baptist Church. Contestants will be Wilma Coffman, Marilyn Lindley, Edna Kempton and Gary Murray of Green Camp, and Barbara Burnside and Stanley Ruggles of Marion. Mrs. C. A. Thomas, county W.C.T.U. president, will preside. Special music on the program will be by a girls' trio from Marion, composed of LaVonne Hook, Marjorie Dearth and Marilyn Brady.

WHERE REDS WAGE ALL-OUT OFFENSIVE. Open arrows show places all along the Korean front where Chinese and Korean Reds swung into their all-out offensive. Solid arrows show where Allied troops met the onslaught. In the Seoul area (1) Chinese smashed against the defenses ringing it but fled after a long and costly battle. Another huge Chinese force (2) was gathering strength on the Pukhan River valley invasion route for a drive (broken arrow) apparently aimed at junction of Pukhan and Han Rivers. Fighting mounted in fury from Chunchon eastward. Fresh Allied troops were rushed into break in line near Hangye (3).

Taft, Ferguson In Exchange Over Campaign Funds

COLUMBUS, May 19—(AP)—The hot Ohio senatorial campaign of 1950 was the subject of further comment yesterday by the two principals—Sen. Robert A. Taft Republican, and his Democratic opponent, state auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

Taft, in a statement to newsmen in Washington, said Ferguson used employes of the state auditor's office for his personal political purposes. He said they were trying to gather evidence on Taft's campaign expenses to give to a Senate elections subcommittee which plans to investigate the campaign soon.

Ferguson, in Akron, said that to his knowledge there are no state employes checking the Taft campaign expenditures.

"My auditors around the state audit all county officers periodically in their routine examination," Ferguson said. "I don't think Mr Taft should be so worried about the expenses that have been filed It seems to me his big worry should be about the large amounts of money spent in his behalf that were not filed."

Taft said state examiners from Ferguson's office had been checking reports of campaign expenditures in the larger counties of the state and in the secretary of state's office.

"That," the senator added, "is using state personnel on personal business."

Iran

cuse for moving into Iran was seen by diplomatic authorities today in an American statement urging a friendly settlement of the controversy.

The statement was issued by the State Department last night and supported "a sincere desire on the part of the British to negotiate with the Iranians on all outstanding issues."

At the same time it called on both nations to "avoid intimidation and threats of unilateral action" as means of trying to force the settlement.

Further, the United States told Iran that American oil companies have told this government they would not be willing to operate the Iranian fields in the event the Iranians forced the British operating company out.

If the legislature fails to pass a bill acceptable to the O.E.A., the school group can, by getting 87,000 more signatures on its petition, take the whole question to the voters at next November's election.

With the addition of funds provided in the bill the House approved yesterday, the state would pay a total in the next two years of about $201,000,000 toward the public education of about 1,200,000 of Ohio's children.

Hints U.S. Will Back Revolt

NEW YORK, May 19—(AP)—Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk hinted last night that America would aid the Chinese people in any revolt against their "colonial Russian government."

The State Department's Far Eastern chief also pledged continued aid to the Chinese Nationalists, but he warned that such U. S. assistance in itself would not decide the future of China.

"The decision and the effort are for the Chinese people," Rusk said, "pooling their efforts, wherever they are, in behalf of China."

Rusk spoke at the 25th annual dinner of the China institute. Ambassador John Foster Dulles and Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) also addressed the meeting.

Dulles strongly backed Rusk's stand and added that the Kremlin was using China as a puppet to win South Korea as a strategic base against Japan. He vowed that Communist Mao Tse-tung would have no voice in framing the Japanese treaty, which Dulles is negotiating.

Reds

Reds Saturday despite low hanging clouds over the front.

The Air Force reported it killed or wounded 7,900 Reds in the week ended Friday—largest toll for any one week since the outbreak of the war.

About 5,750 of the casualties were inflicted Thursday as the Reds pressed their second spring offensive.

Allied forces still were holding off Reds massing north of Seoul. But the stepped-up pressure near Changgong by spearheads of a 768,000-man offensive force caused general Allied withdrawals along 125 miles of front Friday.

Terrific Losses

But Communists were dying by the tens of thousands—on barbed wire entanglements; under a rain of shells from artillery firing until barrels swelled from the heat; in a hail of bombs from hundreds of planes; under bombardment of the 45,000-ton battleship New Jersey and other warships off the east coast.

For a 36-hour period, ended Friday, Maj. Gen. Clark L. Ruffner's Second Division duplicated the heroic stands it made at Kunu last November and at Chipyong in February.

Supported by French and Dutch units, the Second fought off entrapment Friday near Hangye, 55 miles northeast of Seoul. Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, commander of the U. S. 10th Corps, today hailed the Second's latest stand as "magnificent."

Today from new dug-in positions a unit of the Second Division threw back three Red assault waves, each exceeding 1,000 men.

A field dispatch from U. S. Eighth Army headquarters said, however, the Red breakthrough on the division's right flank still was not contained. Reds were pouring through that hole.

THOUGHTS OF YOUTH. Someone once wrote, "The thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

Perhaps he was right, but when we get older we get a "smattering of ignorance" of psychology and come out pondering, Now what made me think that way?

THERE WAS GALEHOUSE. For example, there was big Denny Galehouse, veteran of 15 years in the major leagues sitting in box seats looking like old Sitting Bull himself swathed in an Indian blanket while I sat in the press box, trying to keep warm in a thin green sweater, covering a loosely-played ball game between Marion and Lima.

I sat there recording the game in the official score book and thought, "Gee, it must be tough on a nice fellow like Galehouse to know his big league days are past. Pitching for such teams in the American League as Boston, Cleveland and St. Louis, eating at the finest hotels, meeting some of the biggest names in sports, nothing but hunting and fishing in the winter—must be tough to leave all that behind.

FUN, SON. Between the first and second game I went down to renew old acquaintances with the Boston scout. One look at the happy expression on Galehouse's face and I knew I should have reserved my compassion for the shivering fans.

With a deep tan that made him look like a candidate for a health contest, Denny beamed his enjoyment.

"Do I mind covering minor league baseball games?" he said like a man being asked if he objected to breakfast in bed. "No, I get a big enjoyment out of sizing up the kids.

"I saw the game between Harding and Mansfield this afternoon and it was a well-played game. The sun was swell, too, he added, pulling the blanket up around him.

IMPRESSED. Denny said he was impressed by the playing of Mansfield Catcher Ken McCally. He said the All-Ohio basketball star handled himself well behind the plate."

After a short chat on the possibilities of the Marsox for this season, I returned to the press box for the second game. For some reason in my short, short thoughts I was feeling very sorry for myself.

Tigers Move Here for 1st Of 3 Games

By JOHN SHORT

Rick Tarys received credit for two wins last night both in relief roles as the Marion Red Sox pounded out two wins over last-place Lima. The Marsox took the first game, 11-6, and came back to take the nightcap, 6-4.

The Marion Club will meet Richmond in a single game tonight at 7:45. The two clubs will play again tomorrow in a twin-bill, at 2 and 7:45 p.m.

Tarys pitched the one and two-thirds innings of the opener after relieving Bob Penny in the sixth. He gave up only one hit in his brief stint. Rick came on in the fifth inning of the second game after rescuing newcomer John Zavada. He gave up only one run and hit during the remainder of the game.

Early Lead

The Sox jumped into a 5-0 lead in the first two innings. Two Lima errors, a single by Marv Stendel and doubles by Ed Sadowski and Don Borger accounted for the markers. Evanik drove in a run in the second with a three-base hit and scored on Dick Brodowski's long fly. Zavada who held Lima to two hits in the first three frames issued a pass to Sheehan in the fourth. A wild pitch advanced the runner to second and he scored on Rollie Hammett's single.

The Phillies added four runs in the fifth inning. During the uprising, Phil Satkowiak blasted a home run with two mates aboard off Bob Penny. Pepper Vinci belted a homer over the leftfield wall for the Sox in the sixth with one man on.

The second game saw Manager Elmer Yoter ejected from the game by Umpire Tom Kennedy after vigorously protesting a play at first base. He argued the umpire was not in position to make the call and was banished after a lengthy rhubarb.

Loses Control

Newcomer Zavada pitched hitless ball for three and one-third innings before being nicked for a single by Krajwiski. He was lifted by Yoder in the fifth frame after issuing three bases on balls and a triple to Tate. Tarys came in and retired the side by whiffing Krajwiski. The lanky southpaw, Zavada, impressed the crowd who has been waiting for pitching strength since the season's opener.

The big blow of the nightcap was a long four-base wallop by Marv Stendel in the seventh inning. The long drive over the leftfield wall came with the bases empty Don Borger, Marsox rightfielder, paced the locals at the plate The chunky gardener collected three for four in the opener and two for four in the nightcap. One hit was a double in the first game.

Kansas City Clings To Lead In A.A.

By The Associated Press

Kansas City Blues apparently are determined to hang onto their newly-acquired spot at the top of the American Association standings.

After moving into first over Milwaukee Thursday night, the Blues wrested a 14-inning decision from the Brews last night, 10-7. The loss knocked the Brews down to third place behind the idle Minneapolis Millers who are a game and a half behind the Blues.

In other games last night, Toledo hammered Columbus, 17-5, and Indianapolis jumped from seventh to fifth place with a 6-0 blanking of Louisville. The Minneapolis at St. Paul game was rained out.

Yanks Win At Richmond

By The Associated Press

Three hits and three Richmond errors enabled Newark to bunch give them a 4-1 victory over four runs in the sixth inning to Richmond.

Neutzel went all the way for the winning Yanks, giving up only four hits. Newark had only six safeties for the evening.

READY FOR HEAVE.—Coordination and form have combined to put 165-pound Bill Miller of Arizona State College at Tempe among the nation's top javelin throwers. Miller won his specialty in the Drake Relays and is considered a top threat in the National Senior AAU meet this year. His best toss, 226 feet, was made while on an AAU tour in Norway last year.

Roe Keeps Brooks First In National

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Preacher Roe, the lean Brooklyn lefty, is no Carl Hubbell but, like the immortal New York Giant, he's a "meal ticket."

Roe, who seems to improve with age, is Brooklyn's stopper. The Arkansas hurler usually puts the skids on a Dodger losing streak.

The Dodgers entered St. Louis last night after two bad beatings from the Cubs in Chicago. Another loss would have knocked them out of the undisputed lead.

Old Preach bailed them out. Using all his cunning, Roe pitched the Dodgers to a 6-3 victory over the Cards.

Game in Front

The triumph kept the Dodgers one game in front of the tightly bunched National League. The Chicago Cubs replaced Pittsburgh in the runner-up slot. The Cubs trounced the Philadelphia Phils, 18-9, while the Pirates dropped a 12-3 decision to the Boston Braves. The Pirates fell to fourth and the Braves took over third.

Ransom Jackson, Hank Sauer and Jack Cusick slammed home runs for Chicago. Jackson had banged out eight hits, including four homers, in his last 14 trips. Cusick legged out an inside-the-park homer with the bases loaded.

Old Dutch Leonard relieved for the Cubs and got credit for the victory.

The Braves scored seven runs in the second inning at Pittsburgh and Max Surkont breezed to his fifth victory. Surkont let up in the eighth and threw home run balls to Ralph Kiner and Wally Westlake. Walker Cooper, with a home run, triple and three singles was the big man for the Braves.

Ken Raffensberger held the Giants hitless for five innings but lost his stuff in the sixth as the New Yorkers shoved four runs across the plate and went on to post a 4-3 triumph. The squeaker ended a five game Cincinnati winning streak. Sal Maglie was the winner.

Pale Hose Win

The Chicago White Sox handed the leading New York Yankees their first loss of the season in Yankee Stadium, 7-4. Ed Stewart socked a grand slam homer in the eighth inning off Spec Shea to break at 3-3 tie and win the game. Bill Pierce went all the way for the second-place White Sox.

The third-place Detroit Tigers scored six runs in the ninth inning to beat the Athletics, 9-6.

Steve Souchock started the rally with his third home run of the season. Five singles and an error by Pitcher Bob Hooper did the rest. Dave Philley of the A's hit a grand slam homer. Bob Cain gained credit for the victory.

Lefty Bob Kuzava pitched the Senators to a 6-2 decision over the St. Louis Browns at Washington

The Boston Red Sox edged the slipping Cleveland Indians, 2-2, at Fenway Park. Vern Stephens drove in both runs with a pinch-hit single in the eighth off reliefer Lou Brissie.

Mickey McDermott, making his first start of the year after successful relief work, went all the way for Boston.

Northwestern In Win Over Bucks

CHICAGO, May 19—(AP)—Ohio State's invincibility in the Big Ten baseball race was shattered today, but the Buckeyes still were the team to beat for the title.

Northwestern's so-so Wildcats yesterday handed the Buckeyes their first setback in seven league starts, 3-1, at Evanston.

Meanwhile, Michigan State retained a strong contender by downing Indiana, 7 - 5, at Bloomington, Ind. However, the Spartans of M.S.C. have only a 3-1 record compared with Ohio State's 6-1. Each has left only five more conference games.

Illinois kept its title hopes alive yesterday with a 3-0 blanking of Minnesota. In other Friday games, Wisconsin thumped Iowa, 9-1, and Michigan edged Purdue, 1-0.

The same pairings are scheduled today for all conference teams.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

COLUMBUS, Ohio—(AP)— In these days when a ball is thrown out of a game at the slightest nick, it is refreshing to know that on April 11, 1912 Kansas City and Columbus in the American Association played an entire game with only one ball.

Races Set For Fort Miami

TOLEDO, O., May 19—A harness race program for tonight which is a dazzling pre-view for the opening of the Grand Circuit's 1951 campaign, is announced by the Toledo Fort Miami Raceway.

The Grand Circuit swings into action here Monday night, and will be in operation at the raceway for three solid weeks. Many of the nation's top trotters and pacers have been racing here since the meeting began a week ago, and will wind up the pre-Grand Circuit season in explosive style Saturday.

Three of the best races of the season on any track are on this card. One which has bulked large in the eyes of horsemen for weeks is the early closing 14 class pace. The free for all trot and the named trot have drawn into action a terrific array of speedsters.

LaMotta To Fight Murphy

NEW YORK, May 19—(INS)—Former Middleweight Boxing Champion Jake LaMotta will open his campaign for the light heavyweight crown on June 27 when he meets rugged Bob Murphy of San Diego in a 12-round bout at Yankee Stadium.

Although contracts for the fight have not been signed, the Bronx Bull announced yesterday his plans to meet Murphy. The winner reportedly will receive a crack at the 175-pound title held by Joey Maxim.

Osco, Cooler Post First League Wins

Marion Power Shovel, Osco, Universal Cooler and Motor Products posted wins last night in Industrial League No. 1 makeup games.

The Shovel rolled over the Marion Engineer Depot, 9-1, at Garfield Park. The winners scored three runs in the first inning on two walks and three errors without a hit. Two of the Shovel's eight hits were four-base blows by Higgins and Wilcox.

Osco pushed over 13 runs in the first inning on nine hits and coasted to a 14-3 win over Erie A. A. The scoring came on five walks, three doubles, a triple by Jim Frank and a grand slam homer by Chuck Hartley. Erie netted their three runs on two hits in the first frame.

Cooler came from behind to edge Pollak Steel, 7-4. The Steelers went ahead with a four-run splurge in the first but Cooler came back with two in the second and two in the third to knot the count. Sonny Taylor, Cooler relief pitcher, hurled hitless ball over the final four innings. Litteral blasted a home run for Pollak with a man on base.

Motor Products bumped Huber, 4-1, in a game played at McKinley Park The winners posted three runs in the fifth on four hits and an error.

LEBANON, O., May 19—(AP)—Lou Huber Jr., of Cincinnati lost his chance to make local harness race history in a photo finish last night.

Huber had driven four winners out of seven at Lebanon Raceway. He was driving Keyman, owned by Albert Saul, Dayton, O., in the feature event, but lost out to Earl's Pied Piper, driven by Vern Youngblood, in his try for win No. 5 and a record. The class pace was the eighth and last race.

The raceway had a handle of $34,000 last night. Earl's Pied Piper paid $8.20, $7.60 and $4.60. Huber's horse paid $4.40 and $3.20, whole Jedorwill paid $3.80 for third.

Time for Rhumbas, Fiestas

Gavilan Has Little Trouble Beating Bratton for Title

NEW YORK, May 19—(AP)—They whooped it up for Kid Gavilan in Havana and New York today. The sleek Cuban had a rougher time with his jubilant countrymen than he had with Johnny Bratton in Madison Square Garden last night.

The flashy hawk of Cuba won the world's welterweight championship (not counting Britain and parts of Europe) by outclassing Chicago Johnny Bratton from here to Havana in their 15-round title scrap. The decision was unanimous and decisive.

For the Kid there'll be plenty of time for the rhumba and gay fiestas and everything else his compatriots are cooking up to celebrate Cuba's first boxing champion since the flory days of Kid Chocolate back in the early thirties.

For Bratton, it was a dream turned into a nightmare. Not only did he lose his N.B.A. crown in his first defense, but once again he finished with a broken jaw and maybe a busted hand. In addition there was a report that the government had slapped a lien on his estimated $14,311 purse for back income taxes.

"Maybe I ought to quit," said the disgusted Bratton. "When the breaks go against you, maybe it's time to get out before you get banged up all over."

Gavilan will be back for his first defense against New York's Billy Graham in the Garden in July. They've met twice before, each winning once.

After that "maybe Eddie Thomas (the English and European champion) or Rocky Graziano," said co-managers Angel Lopez and Fernando Bolido.

There were no maybes from Gavilan.

Fight Anybody

"I fight anybody," said the newly crowned champ with a jaw-breaking grin. "I am happiest man in the world to win the championship for Cuba. I love America too, and I am verge happy to win the championship here. I love everybody."

Almost knocked out in the first round when he took 36 straight punches from Gavilan while pinned to the ropes, Bratton rallied to give the fast-punching "keed" a whale of a fight for seven rounds. The 23-year-old Negro was sharp on his counters and at the end of almost every one of the early rounds they belted away at each other in torrid exchanges. But from the eighth on, it appeared that Bratton had shot his bolt, or that something was wrong with him.

All through the fight, Bratton, a 2 to 1 underdog, backed and danced away. That was okay with the fans as long as he fired back. But when he stopped doing anything except backpedal thereafter, the customers unloosed some choice boos. There were no knockdowns and nothing close to one except for the first round when Gavilan started Johnny on the way with a belt to the jaw.

Ladies Taking Their Swings

Fair Weather Brings Golfers Out At Mar-O-Del and Country Club

A break in the weather during the past week has brought local golfers to the links by waves. Although no spectacularly low scores have been posted, the swingers are reported slowly rounding into mid-season form.

Every day has been a busy one at the Mar-O-Del and Country Club courses and more are expected.

Jack Stoddard, Country Club pro, was more than pleased with the first week of steady golfing. Some 35 women turned out at the course for the Ladies' Day event Thursday. Twenty-two feminine golfers reported for the ladies' golf clinic Thursday morning. It was the second week of the clinic and is described by Stoddard as "good."

The Country Club linksmen set down to business today as the club tourneys open. These tournament classics will be held every Wednesday and Friday at the course through Labor Day, Stoddard reported.

In addition to the tournament play and the ladies' clinic, Stoddard plans a junior golfers' clinic for children of the club members when school is out during the first week of June. This clinic will be open to all boys and girls of the club. Individual instructions will be given by Stoddard and his brother, Ray.

Employment At High Level

200 Job Openings Listed by OSES

Marion's employment levels continue to soar with the supply of unemployed physically-fit men practically exhausted.

The Marion office of the Ohio State Employment Service in its periodic labor survey today reported 200 jobs were going begging in Marion because of a lack of men who could meet employers' requirements. Only 185 men were seeking work here as of May 1.

Jobs are open for journeyman machinists, tool and die makers, foundry and machine shop workers, mechanical engineers and qualified typists and stenographers.

Most men hunting jobs here were already employed but were hunting jobs at a higher skill level or at higher wages. About 45 percent of those hunting work here were over 45 years old and 15 percent had physical limitations.

At present 220 women are seeking jobs here. Seventy percent of these are under 45 years of age and more than half of them have had previous manufacturing experience.

Unemployment claims in Marion dropped to 150 during April, 55 less than in March, with about half those unemployed being women. This low unemployment level is highlighted by the fact that a year ago 940 persons were receiving unemployment compensation payments each week.

To Start Work On Bridge

McNamara and Reeder, Delaware contracting firm, will begin work Monday on a bridge construction program on County Road 73-B, northwest of Delaware, Walter Johnson, Marion County engineer, announced today.

The estimated cost of the project was set by the engineer at $14,859.50. The Delaware firm entered a bid of $13,096.25.

Two concrete abutments will be constructed at a cost of $6,096 and work will be completed within a month. Following construction of the abutments, a new steel bridge will be placed. The bridge, already at the county garage, will be placed in at a cost of $7,000.

OUT OF YOUR Old Engine!

If you're thinking of your Buick in terms of the long pull ahead — better drive it in to our shop and let us pull some of our famous motor-magic!

It might take only a new set of piston rings, or a valve-grinding and carbon removal, to give you hundreds of dollars' worth of fresh power and new fuel economy—at a fraction of that figure in cost!

Why not drive in this week, and talk over the possibilities with us?

WHY DID YOU SLEEP SO WELL LAST NIGHT, CITIZEN? — BECAUSE YOU KNEW THERE WERE AIR FORCE MEN AWAKE, ALERT FOR THE WORD TO GO ANYWHERE IN THE WORLD TO PROTECT YOU FROM ATTACK...
WHY DID YOU SEND YOUR KIDS OFF TO SCHOOL WITH SUCH CONFIDENCE TODAY? BECAUSE THERE ARE NAVY MEN ON PATROL ON EVERY OCEAN, READY TO REPEL AN ATTACK BY SEA OR AIR...
WHY DIDN'T YOU GET PANICKY AT THE NEWS FROM ABROAD? BECAUSE THERE ARE MARINES READY TO LAND AT ANY SPOT AND STOP TROUBLE BEFORE IT STARTS, AS THEY HAVE DONE IN ASIA...

Handbag Invented To Change Color

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (UP) — A handbag that can change color to match a woman's attire is ready for production.

The designer, Bill Hovis, said the handbag primarily is an oblong box-type bag but can be made in all sizes and with a hand strap or shoulder strap.

"The aluminum frame is hinged at the bottom of the four sides and opens flat," Hovis said. "The lining is shaped like the bag and can be lifted out, with its contents intact.

"When you want to change the color, you lay the frame flat over another color of lining and slip the fabric over tiny teeth below the frame sides.

"When you close the bag, the new lining is held tightly in place and the old lining with its contents is placed inside. You have a new bag."

You make the linings yourself to match your dress and accessories. All that is necessary is to flatten the frame over the lining material and snip it out, following the lines of the frame.

Lincoln was re-elected president in 1864 over Gen. George B. McClellan, Democrat.

Yellow Paint Baffles Wandering Cattle

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—(UP)—Wyoming cattle have learned how to get by a cattle guard, but a line of yellow paint still stumps them.

The Wyoming highway department disclosed that experiments in curbing the wanderlust of the range cattle have turned up yellow paint as one solution.

Department officials said a study showed that it would cost more than $5,000,000 for fence alone to close off the open range from the highways and that even then the cattle ignore the cattle guards and get onto the roads anyway.

So the department tried painting wide yellow lines to simulate cattle guards. Apparently it works, for some unknown reason.

"Not a cow has crossed one yet," one official said.

There are 286,905 farms in North Carolina.
